Artist's Bio

Eberhard Bitter's work explores the complex facets of human relationships and emotions. His art is an intense examination of inner states, closeness, tension, and self-perception. The starting point is figurative representations of bodies whose movements and interactions radiate an existential energy — detached from space and time, focused on the moment.

In the course of his artistic development, Bitter has increasingly abstracted his figures: the bodies have become elementary, stone-like forms that symbolize both burden and support, stability and movement. These condensed structures embody a poetic balance between opposites — a symbol of human connection and the fragile equilibrium of life.

Bitter studied painting at the Dortmund University of Applied Sciences under Prof. Pitt Moog and Prof. Hartmut Böhm.

Eberhard Bitter (*1960 in Wanne-Eickel), lives and works in Wuppertal, Germany

Inspiration

It's simply that interpersonal relationships, human relationships with all their associated joys and conflicts, closeness and distance, are what move me most personally.
